Cam Tait: Disabled? Hell No! I'm a Sit-Down Comic!

Cam Tait with Jim Taylor

9781550176971

Paperback | $24.95

256 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: March 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Long-time journalist Cam Tait has seen some interesting times on the sports beat—rolling alongside Rick Hansen in the Man in Motion tour, playing in fundraising golf tournaments, and tipping back some cold ones with Wayne Gretzky, to name a few. His personal life hasn't lacked excitement either—memorable moments include parasailing, winning a stand-up (or in his case, sit-down) comedy contest, and helping his grandson take his first steps. But he couldn't have done it without the help of his friends. Tait was born with cerebral palsy, unable to sit up, speak or move his arms and legs. But thanks to a revolutionary form of physical therapy that required a 24/7 commitment from his parents and a team of 116 volunteers, he learned to get around in a wheelchair, move his hands and talk. These turned out to be useful skills for a career of prime interviews, crazy deadlines and pranks.

Tait teams up with friend and fellow journalist Jim Taylor, telling his own story with characteristic directness and humour. With a newspaperman's inveterate sense of timing, Tait moves seamlessly from one-liners and tales of debauched hijinks to candid accounts of his depression, career struggles and loss of loved ones. He speaks with eloquence about the importance of giving disabled people the chance to pursue their ambitions, and the value of all the support he's received in achieving his own dreams. In both his career and personal life, he's experienced the power of humour to break down barriers and bring people together—and have a hell of a good time doing it.

Author Bio

Cam Tait worked as a reporter for the Edmonton Journal for over thirty years, interviewing Wayne Gretzky, Stevie Wonder, James Brady and others. He now writes for the Edmonton Sun. He has two honorary degrees and much insight on the subject of which drinking straws go best with which adult beverages. He lives in Edmonton with his wife Joan. This is his first book.

Jim Taylor has produced some 7,500 sports columns, three times as many radio shows and fifteen books. His passion has earned him membership in the CFL and BC Sports Halls of Fame and a lifetime achievement award from Sports Media Canada. He is the co-author of Goin' Deep: The Life and Times of a CFL Quarterback with Matt Dunigan and "Hello, Sweetheart? Gimmie Rewrite!": My Life in the Wonderful World of Sports. He lives in Shawnigan Lake, BC.

The Death of Small Creatures

Trisha Cull

9780889713079

Paperback | $22.95

240 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: April 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Nightwood Editions

Content

In her lyrical memoir The Death of Small Creatures, Trisha Cull lays bare her struggles with bulimia, bipolar disorder and substance abuse. Interspersing snatches of conversations, letters, blog entries and clinical notes with intimate poetic narrative, Cull evokes an accessible experience of mental illness.

In The Death of Small Creatures, Cull strives to cope with her hopelessness. She finds comfort in the company of her two pet rabbits until one of them dies as a result of her lethargy. She numbs herself with alcohol. She validates her self-worth by seeking the love of men—any and all men—and three relationships significantly impact her life: her marriage to Leigh, a much older man; her unrequited love for Dr. P, her therapist; and her healthier relationship with Richard, an American she meets through her blog. She tries drugs—Neo Citran, Ativan, Wellbutrin, crack, crystal meth—and after two hospitalizations, she undergoes electroconvulsive therapy.

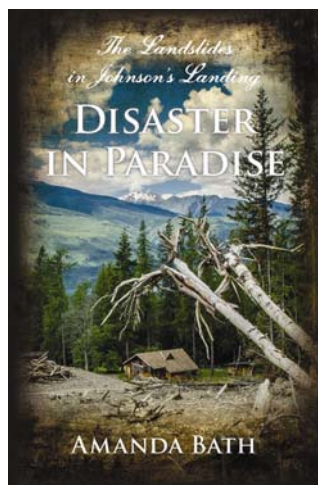

Haunting and expressive, this immersive memoir explores love in all its facets—needy, obsessive, healthy, self-directed—and plunges the reader headlong into the intense and immediate experience of mental illness.

Author Bio

Trisha Cull is a graduate of the University of British Columbia's MFA Creative Writing program. Her work has been published in Room of One's Own, Descant, subTerrain, Geist, The New Quarterly, The Dalhousie Review and PRISM. She was the winner of Lichen's "Tracking a Serial Poet" contest in 2006, PRISM's Communications Award for Literary Non-fiction in 2007, and the 2006 Bliss Carman Poetry Award for her poem, "Loose," which was also the winner of the 2007 Prairie Fire Writing Contest. Cull lives in Victoria, BC.

Disaster in Paradise: Landslide at Johnson's Landing

Mandy Bath

9781550176957

Paperback | $22.95

240 pages | 5.5 x 8.5

Publication Date: March 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

On the morning of July 12, 2012, Mandy Bath left her picturesque home and garden in Johnson's Landing, BC, for a day trip to nearby Kaslo. She had no forewarning of what the placid summer day would bring. But just over an hour later, a massive landslide tore into the community, destroying her home and killing four people: Valentine Webber, aged 60, and his daughters, 22-year-old Diana and 17-year-old Rachel, along with 64-year-old Petra Frehse. Returning the next day to search for her cat, Mandy narrowly avoided being buried beneath a second slide.

Disaster in Paradise tells a story of survival, grief and recovery, as Mandy and the other residents of Johnson's Landing gradually rebuild their community in the wake of the tragedy. Mandy eloquently details her own experience of trauma and healing, and weaves in the stories of other residents and volunteers in the rescue and recovery missions as the community bands together to collectively mourn their loss. The story is grounded by the author's intimate knowledge of the Johnson's Landing community, but also reflects the greater themes of loss, perseverance and bravery that arise in natural disasters everywhere.

Author Bio

Mandy Bath was born and raised in England, and she lived in London before moving to the tiny community of Johnson's Landing in 1993. She holds a Ph.D. in Catalan Literature, and worked in human rights research for Amnesty International for a decade. Since her home in Johnson's Landing was destroyed by the 2012 landslide, she now lives in Kaslo, BC, with her husband Christopher Klassen. This is her first book.

Ma Doula

Stephanie Sorensen

9780878398218

Paperback | $14.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Ma Doula is a book of stories about births, from Amish home births by lamplight to big-city births in high-tech hospitals. These stories are about families, medical personnel, midwives and doulas and, of course, moms, dads, and babies (who already have their own opinions). The different cultural and religious traditions that sometimes clash with medical training, mean every birth is its own story. Helping moms to give birth among generational and multi-cultural opinions, while respecting religious traditions, and the complications that can occur in any birth, the stories in Ma Doula give several new meanings to the miracle of birth.

Author Bio

Stephanie Sorensen, a licensed midwife for decades, is now a doula as she writes about her experiences working with hundreds of mothers-to-be from many countries, cultures, and religions. The mother of five and a proud grandmother, Stephanie and her husband live in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Donna Carol Voss

9780990622604

Paperback | $16.00

262 pages | 5.25 x 8

Publication Date: May 2015

Vantages Books

Content

Is It Possible to OD on Life? The recipe for happily-ever-after? Start with one middle-class white girl in 1976. Add in her longing for love and acceptance, another middle-class white girl, a huge dollop of gossip, and excruciating peer and family pressure. Stir in youthful travel abroad, a Berkeley education, and a foray into paganism, drugs, marriage, and divorce. Whip until frothy with interracial and bisexual affairs, relationship violence, and exploration of multicultural mores. Season with salsa dancing. Temper with a segue into Mormonism. Decorate with a Temple wedding and garnish with motherhood to three adopted siblings. And what you have is a memoir capable of sating anyone's need for a great read. From shame to self-acceptance, from sexual ambiguity to definitive choice, from skepticism to belief, Donna Carol Voss's journey from childhood through marriage and motherhood is both unique and universal, a story that will resonate long after the last page is read.

Author Bio

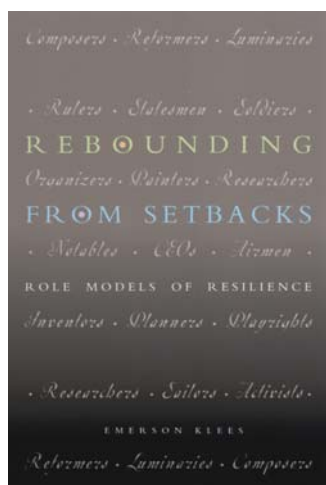

Donna Carol Voss's life experience has been eclectic; it includes just about everything but mainlining heroin and going to jail, and she missed jail by only a hair. She is a Berkeley grad, a stay-at-home mom, a former pagan, and a devout Mormon. A study in extremes, she is a fifty-something homemaker who loves rap music, outrageously expensive shoes, and people who own their flaws and call her on hers. She is uncomfortable negotiating the price of anything but relishes intense emotional interactions, especially if they are about politics and religion. Raised in the shadow of luxury, her favorite vacation is camping. She is an eternal optimist who is endlessly fascinated by the dark side of good people. Anxious to be liked by all, she has written a memoir that is sure to provoke everyone about something. Words are Donna's first love, whether used with laser-like precision or nuanced artistry.

Don Bloch

9780878397853

Paperback | $16.95

320 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: March 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

This is a book of adventure and travel. It is also a memoir, reflecting the author's love for the people and the land, but do not expect a sentimental reflection of years gone by. These stories connect us all as human beings. Bloch expresses his deep wonder as a child, frustration with his studies at the seminary, and his deep longing for freedom. Freedom he receives during his rollicking free life as a hobo, and he flies through graphic descriptions of piloting jet airplanes. Finally Bloch reaches an honest insight into what it's like to be a special agent/pilot for the Drug Enforcement Administration. Here is the first part of his story.

Author Bio

The twelfth of eighteen children, Don Bloch was born near Albany, Minnesota, in 1942, and raised on a dairy farm. He studied to be a priest, became a hobo, served as a pilot instructor for the U.S. Air Force during the Vietnam War, and finally made a career with the Drug Enforcement Administration. He is a retired special agent/pilot for the DEA. Don and his wife live out in the Avon Hills of central Stearns County in Minnesota.

Tomatoes Free for the Asking: Stories of a Minnesota Boyhood

Kent O. Stever

9780878397952

Paperback | $14.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

"... a knack for finding little stories from the past that illuminate the spirit of the time and for mining sources for details that enrich his tales.

– Chris Rogers, Winona Post

"Tomatoes Free for the Asking" is a quaint term remembered from the 1800s, yet heard in the 1950s of my youth. It was a simple expression written on a piece of cardboard set alongside a pile of tomatoes near someone's garden—or on the front porch. It was an invitation to take as you wish, with an expectation of acknowledgement—a simple courtesy to honor the offer. Little tidbits of courtesy such as this remind me of days when kids shared a tin cup at the water pump, when we helped a neighbor out with a car stuck in a snow bank or in moments of just being alone with the stars and our thoughts. Throughout the days we learned lessons of freedom and responsibility that carried us into an uncertain future. The lessons sustained and guided us as we practiced them with new generations. Some of those are contained herein, in stories that made up part of life for me in a small Minnesota town on the Mississippi River.

Author Bio

Kent Stever "draws complete pictures of the scenes of our childhood." He is a skilled observer, lifetime educator, and parent--and sincere friend of young people. He enjoys "a stroll back in time to a simpler place," relishing the memories and joys of neighbors, friends, and community members who mutually supported one another. Dr. Stever is pleased to have his twilight years lakeside in Lakeville, Minnesota, to reflect, research and share stories of meaning. He invites your comments at kostever35@gmail.com.

Vancouver Blue: A Life Against Crime

Wayne Cope

9781550176995

Paperback | $22.95

224 pages | 5.5 x 8.5

Publication Date: March 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Wayne Cope has TV to blame for starting him on his long career as an officer of the Vancouver Police Department. He grew up watching gunslingers like James Arness and Richard Boone, inspiring him to join up even before he finished college—and his real-life working career has turned out to be more exciting than he could have hoped. In his years on the force from 1975 to 2006, Cope has seen practically everything on the ever-changing streets of Vancouver—he's worked as a jailer and a traffic cop, talked people down from bridges, worked on dog squads, gone undercover in pursuit of serious criminals and worked the historical unsolved homicide unit. And behind each assignment, there's a story, a joke or a revealing insight into the realities of police work.

In Vancouver Blue, Cope shares pearls of wisdom and anecdotes inspired by his years on the force, describing some of the most outlandish costumes for undercover drug purchases, many different ways to total a brand-new motorbike, and the precise ratio of competent officers to idiots in any given squad. He also sheds light on the behind-the-scenes life of VPD officers and their off-duty antics. Cope also provides detailed accounts of some of his most fascinating cases, like the sensational Centrefold Murder and the infamous killing of the Stanley Park flamingoes. For those looking for even more insight into the mind of a detective, Cope has created a cipher with a theme inspired by the book, offering a reward of five Canadian Silver Maple Leaf coins to the first person to break the code.

Author Bio

Wayne Cope served in the Vancouver Police Department for over thirty years, retiring in 2006. He currently lives in Tsawwassen, BC. This is his first book.

"If you thought the words 'healthy' and 'Italian food' could never be spoken in the same (garlic) breath, you're SO in for a treat! Fina's scrumptious, colorful and good-for-you creations are a feast for your eyes and taste buds. Chow...bella!"
— JANET PODLESKI, bestselling co-author of The Looneyspoons Collection and Eat, Shrink & Be Merry!

"The Healthy Italian cookbook ties in two of my favorite things – delicious-tasting food and good health! I highly recommend this book!"

— DR. JOEY SHULMAN, bestselling author and media nutritional expert

"Filled with reader-friendly icons and fresh ideas, The Healthy Italian reframes a robust cuisine in terms of nutrition without ever compromising authenticity. "

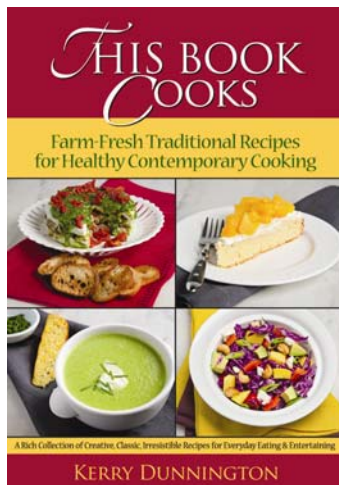

— BONNY REICHERT, chef, food writer and Globe and Mail columnist

Author Bio

The Healthy Italian is more than just a cookbook. What makes it extra special -- besides the fact that it's packed with delicious authentic Italian recipes made healthy, pages and pages of mouth-watering photography and tons of tips to get meals on the table easier -- is that this project is a personal passion. Growing up Italian, food has always been at the epicentre of author Fina Scropo's life. Today, as a busy mom and passionate home cook, she leans on what she knows best -- Italian food. But the challenge there has been to cook Italian healthfully without compromising taste, fit it into her day and feel good about serving those meals to her family. After more than two decades working as an editor and writer, Fina is merging her vast journalism experience with her love of Italian food and cooking. She is no stranger to successful bestselling books. Fina has also been a book editor for many book titles, including the blockbusters The Looney spoons Collection and Eat, Shrink & Be Merry! by Janet and Greta Podleski, as well as The Wealthy Barber Returns by David Chilton. With The Healthy Italian, it has never been easier to enjoy a nutritious, mouth-watering meal with family. Fina has paid particular attention to convenience in every recipe but, more importantly, she focuses on great taste -- her family wouldn't have it any other way! After all, it's about cooking for the love of food and family.

Content

In This Book Cooks, readers will discover creative, classic and irresistible recipes for everyday eating and entertaining. Recipes include useful and inspiring introductory material further enhanced by stories drawn from the author's life experiences in cooking, dining and serving. A comprehensive index and a stylish, user-friendly format makes This Book Cooks completely accessible, easy to navigate, and an inspiring cover-to-cover culinary read. Divided into nine chapters, from appetizers to desserts, (including a chapter devoted to recipes for dog treats) This Book Cooks offers a rich collection of nearly 200 classic, award-winning, easy-to-follow recipes readers will keep coming back to again and again.

Kerry's passion for creative recipes and consuming foods in their growing season carries on in This Book Cooks. With a nod toward the farm-fresh approach that recalls her own childhood memories of food, Kerry stresses the importance of implementing family food traditions and recognizing that our culinary choices have a major impact on the environment. The book will help influence future generations about the importance of shopping the harvest, appreciating nature's bounty, and sharing in the goodness and nourishment that the best home cooking provides.

Jennifer Ritchie

9781619272323

Paperback | $17.99

125 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: November 2012

Milkalicious, Inc.

Content

In the informational age where people can Google anything, the biggest challenge for new parents is finding answers. Less than half of the websites that contain breastfeeding information are accurate, and women are more aware of the benefits than ever before. Even the US Government would save a minimum of $15 billion dollars a year if women breastfed for 6 months. Why aren't they? Because it is a lot more difficult than you think. Yes, it is something that should come naturally, but with more and more interventions with labor, milk is delayed, nipples are sore, and there is only so much a woman can take. This book is your Lactation Consultant in a cute little package. Regardless if you are having problems now, or if you are simply gaining knowledge of potential breastfeeding pitfalls, this is the book for you.

Author Bio

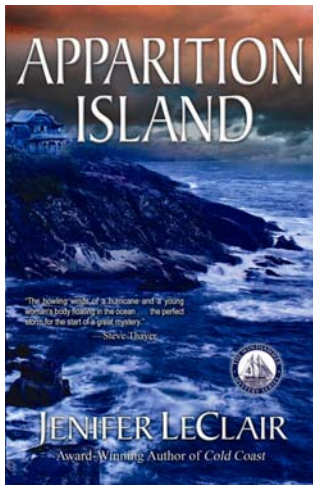

Founded in 2008 by Jennifer Ritchie, an Internationally Board Certified Lactation Consultant, Milkalicious is a business created by her personal cause to provide a more realistic approach to educating and supporting new mothers about breastfeeding. The Milkalicious brand supports, educates and empowers breastfeeding mothers through prevention and confidence. Since 2008, Jennifer has helped over 5,000 women successfully breastfeed.

Author Hometown: Los Angeles, California

Content

A chilling tale of murder unfolds during a fierce September hurricane on the Maine coast in this haunting story of two deaths mysteriously bound together by the long reach of time. As Hurricane Ivan bears down on the coast, the crew of the Maine Wind retrieves the body of a young woman from the sea. Who is she and how did she die? The search for the woman's identity thrusts Homicide Detective Brie Beaumont into an investigation on Apparition Island in the aftermath of the violent storm. A verdict of undetermined death begs the question: Was this an accidental drowning; did Claire Whitehall commit suicide, or was she murdered? As a baffling investigation unfolds, Brie is drawn back into a decades old cold case—one that has cast its shadow into the present, where she could become its next victim.

Author Bio

Jenifer LeClair is the author of three previous Windjammer Mysteries, Rigged for Murder, Danger Sector, and Cold Coast, featuring Homicide Detective Brie Beaumont. In her award-winning series LeClair vividly captures Maine's islands and coastal regions where she has sailed aboard the historic Maine windjammers, traveled, and done research since 1995. Rigged for Murder won a 2009 Independent Publishers Award for Best Regional Fiction for the U.S. North East and the 2009 Rebecca's Reads Award for Best Mystery/Thriller. Danger Sector was a finalist for Best Mystery/Thriller in the 2012 Midwest Book Awards and also won a 2012 Independent Publisher Award for Best Regional Fiction for the U.S. North East. Cold Coast won the Reader Views Choice Award: 2014 Best Mystery/Thriller of the Year and 2014 Midwest Book Award Finalist: Best Mystery/Thriller.

As dawn breaks over Madrigal's Lodge on Gull Lake in northern Minnesota, a motorboat is seen running slowly in circles in the bay. Told that the boat has no occupants, St. Paul Daily Dispatch reporter Warren "Mitch" Mitchel and photographer Alan Jeffrey rush to the dock, along with dozens of others on hand for the annual Governor's Fishing Opener. The boat had been rented out by Alex Gordon, the governor's press secretary and an avid early-morning fisherman. Gordon's body is soon found by a dive team, and it appears that he accidentally fell overboard and drowned in the icy water. After a day of turmoil, Governor Anders A. Anderson does his best to put the celebratory weekend back on schedule. While the media await the results of an autopsy, Mitch and Al spend an afternoon fishing and go ashore on a wooded island to answer a call of nature. There they discover a mound of freshly dug earth and uncover a life jacket bearing Alex Gordon's initials. The autopsy shows that Gordon had a bump on the back of his head and no water in his lungs. This report, along with the life jacket, forces the sheriff to open a homicide investigation. As the days wear on with no results, Mitch worries about being home in time for his wedding. The odds turn frighteningly against getting home at all when and Al meet Alex Gordon's killer.

Ghost Words: Thirteen Gothic Tales for People Who Do Not Believe in Ghosts

Emilio DeGrazia

9780878398171

Paperback | $14.95

160 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: September 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

The thirteen accounts in this unconventional collection of Gothic tales are calculated to challenge--and deepen--our understanding of the spiritual presences and powers we call "ghosts." If, as St. Anselm said, "I believe in order to understand," these stories take us toward Peter Abelard: "I believe only what I understand."

Author Bio

Emilio DeGrazia, author of two award winning short story collections----Enemy Country and Seventeen Grams of Soul----also has had two novels, two collections of creative prose, and a collection of poetry published. He and his wife Monica are co-editors of Twenty-Six Minnesota Writers, Thirty-Three Minnesota Poets, and The Nodin Anthology of Poetry. He just finished a second term as Poet Laureate of Winona, Minnesota.

Gifts of the Spirit

Patricia Eilola

9780878398089

Paperback | $14.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: March 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Gifts of the Spirit follows a similar pattern as Patricia Eilola's previous books— Fabulous Family Holomolaiset, A Finntown of the Heart, and A Finntown of the Soul—by taking a real life and fictionalizing it. Set in northern Minnesota, Gifts of the Spirit recounts the story of a young woman who rises above her humble station without ever completely leaving it behind. Beginning with the influenza epidemic of 1918, the story continues into the 1920s on her family's small farm, where they live in relative calm, interspersed with moments of terror and excitement.

Author Bio

After some twenty years of teaching writing at Duluth East High School, Patricia Eilola has finally taken up the pen herself. A Finnish-American member of the Ladies of Kaleva, a grateful wife, mother of one daughter and grandmother to four, inveterate reader and sometime writer, Pat began writing Gifts of the Spirit and watched in amazement as it grew by leaps and bounds. "Often in the morning I had no idea where I was going, and six hours later a chapter had emerged. From where? I'm not sure, but I do know that it all came from so deep within me that it took on a life of its own. It simply became my appointed task to record that life."

Paperback | $14.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Vices are outlawed in Cloquet in 1918—except on the Island. There, loggers can have the time of their lives with drink, women of the night, and poker games. When the city is threatened by fire, the virtuous citizens of Cloquet have to overcome their prejudice in order to survive. Everything is destroyed—except the Island. As one reporter commented, “The Devil takes care of his own.”

Author Bio

While living in Cloquet, MN, Nancy had many opportunities to collect stories her elderly friends had stored away since the great fire in 1918. They invited her to coffee and shared their memories. Nancy listened as they told of the disaster that entered their lives on October 12 of that year. From these reminiscences she put together a novel incorporating the Island, the city of Cloquet, life and industry at that time, and of course the great fire that swept down upon the city, wiping it from the face of the earth.

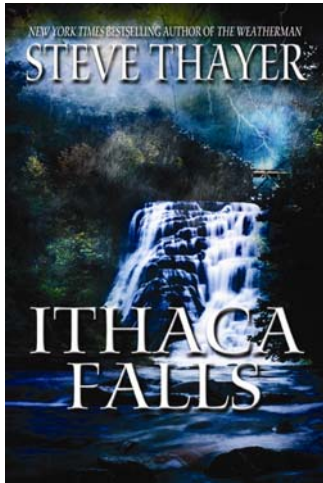

Nancy graduated from Concordia College in Moorhead, MN, and became a teacher in English literature after a rather lengthy sabbatical to raise her six children. During her years at home, she helped with homework, packed lunches, healed the sick, and gave advice to the occasional child with a broken heart. From all this experience, Nancy wrote articles depicting her adventures as a mother for Scope Magazine, a women's periodical published by the American Lutheran Church, and traveled extensively as a speaker to women's groups of the church.

Content

John Alden, former Ivy League football star and now professor of criminal justice, tells a stunned gathering of academics that he is a visitor from the twenty-first century—that he washed up on their campus and in their time after tumbling over a waterfall in the year 2010. He further claims to be a retired New York City homicide detective who went over Ithaca Falls in pursuit of a serial killer. The revelation sets off weeks of trepidation and soul searching in the steep hills and dramatic gorges of Cornell University as the strange visitor tells of the things to come—financial panic, economic depression, a second world war, and most importantly, an attempt to alter the course of history by assassinating Franklin Roosevelt.

Author Bio

Steve Thayer is The New York Times bestselling author of The Weatherman, 1995, Silent Snow, 1999, and The Wheat Field, 2002. He is also the author of Saint Mudd, 1992, Moon over Lake Elmo, 2001, Wolf Pass, 2003, and The Leper, 2008. Steve Thayer was born and raised in St. Paul, Minnesota. He lives there still. He is a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in Pasadena, California. He spent seven years acting and writing in Los Angeles before returning home to begin his first novel, Saint Mudd. The gangster novel took four years to research and write. When he was unable to interest a publisher, Thayer published the novel himself. Saint Mudd went from self-published in 1988, to a small press in 1990, to a 1992 hardcover publication by Viking Penguin, followed by a Signet paperback in 1994. His follow-up novel, The Weatherman, rose to number seven on The New York Times bestseller list.

The Murder of Emily Magillicutty

Corinne A. Dwyer

9780878397709

Paperback | $14.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: September 2015

Content

Phoebe Magillicutty Stuart just made detective. She's also freshly divorced and was taken to the cleaners by her ex's lawyers, so much so that she, at twenty-eight, can't afford her own apartment. Instead, she moves in with her elderly aunt, Emily Magillicutty, who spent her life in Hollywood as a screamer in scary movies. Emily has an aging ex-cop for a gardener and a frustrated, elderly French chef for a cook, making Phoebe concerned she'll be caring for the oldsters before long, even as she starts her career as a detective. And the St. Cloud PD has a serious case to solve: older women are being attacked and robbed by a man with a horrible facial scar. Senior detective Neil McKenna has a suspect, but the man has a perfect alibi for every attack—absolutely every one. Aunt Emily, the screamer, finds herself in the same room as the vicious attacker of old women. Timing is everything, but, apparently, so are lines.

Author Bio

Corinne A. Dwyer has been writing since the early 1970s. Married to a deputy, she heard lots of stories that flesh out her murder mystery, and her large family taught her the humor that eases some of the horrors law enforcers face. She lives with her youngest daughter on Dancing the Land Farm, writes, watches wildlife and helps with the goats, sheep, and chickens.

Raincoast Chronicles 23: Harbour Publishing 40th Anniversary Edition

Edited by Peter A. Robson

9781550177107

Paperback | $24.95

160 pages | 8.5 x 11

Publication Date: March 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

When the first edition of Raincoast Chronicles was produced by a couple of novice publishers in the unlikely location of Pender Harbour in 1972, it boldly announced that it was going “to put BC character on the record.” Printed in sepia ink and decorated with the rococo flourishes characteristic of that extravagant era, the unclassifiable journal-cum-serial-book about life on the BC coast struck a nerve and in time became something very close to what it set out to be—a touchstone of British Columbia identity. Soon the term “Raincoast,” which had been coined by the editors, was appearing on boats, puppet theatres, interior decorating firms and at least one other publishing enterprise.

Raincoast Chronicles also created another publishing enterprise—Harbour Publishing. Many of the stories that started out as articles in the Chronicles grew into books and so the White family was more or less forced to get into book publishing to deal with them. That undertaking went on to publish some six hundred books (and counting!) about every possible aspect of BC and, in 2014, celebrated its fortieth anniversary in the biz. To honour that occasion this special double issue of Raincoast Chronicles takes a tour down memory lane, selecting a trove of the most outstanding stories in all those Harbour books and republishing them in one volume.

Here are some of Canada’s most exciting and iconic writers—Al Purdy, Anne Cameron, Edith Iglauer, Patrick Lane and Grant Lawrence, to start a long list. Here also are stories of disasters at sea, scarcely believable bush plane feats, eerie events at coastal ghost towns and a First Nations elder who has seen so many sasquatches he finds them sort of boring. Full of great drawings and photos, this jumbo anniversary edition of Raincoast Chronicles is a feast of great Pacific Northwest storytelling.

Author Bio

Peter A. Robson has authored hundreds of articles and has served as editor for several magazines, including Pacific Yachting, Cottage and Cottage Life West. He has also authored or co-authored books about commercial fishing, forestry, towboating and salmon farming. He is a regular at Harbour Publishing's Friday martini hour and lives in Garden Bay, BC.

With its arch-like trees covering the town, Clearwater provided a safe haven for Jennie Phillips, an apprenticing druggist in her father's store in the late nineteenth century. While on a routine trip to deliver a prescription out in the country, she is alarmed when she encounters what some consider to be the ghost of murdered Irish girl roaming the Tamarack Swamp. She becomes obsessed with the unsolved case. At the same time, she struggles with her responsibility to uphold her father's ethical practices when she learns what some women are using their over-the-counter patent medicines for. Yet when she learns that rape and burglary can take place even in her village, Jennie realizes Clearwater is not as idyllic as she once thought, and for many women, the art of living isn't as exact as dispensing.

9780878398034

Paperback | $14.95

320 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: March 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Three Paths to Glory is the story of three regiments in the American Civil War: the 2nd and 5th Minnesota and the 1st Tennessee. It follows each of the regiments through the war through the eyes of men serving in them. Clinton Cilley, of the 2nd Minnesota will be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, Jimmy Dunn of the 5th fights bravely in the Indian wars and at the Battle of Nashville. Sam Davis of the 1st Tennessee is remembered as the "Boy Hero of the Confederacy" for his gallant and noble deeds. We follow their exploits through their respective regiments. While historical fiction, this book is extensively researched and the events and people are accurately portrayed. The grime, grit and valor of service in this deciding point of American history is part of the story.

Author Bio

Dean Urdahl taught American history for thirty-five years at New London-Spicer Schools, Minnesota, and was first elected to the Minnesota House of Representatives in 2002. He served as Minnesota's commissioner to the Abraham Lincoln Bicentennial Commission, and was instrumental in forming the Minnesota Civil War Sesquicentennial Com-mission. Urdahl was appointed in 2010 to chair the Minnesota House Legacy Funding Committee. Dean resides with his wife and editor, Karen, on a hobby farm near Litchfield, Minnesota. Keeping children safe isn't just a job for Terrance County Social Worker Leah Danco. After she's taken care of the children of the county, she heads home to help keep her drug-dealing brother out of jail, her paranoid mother out of the psychiatric ward, and herself away from the constant draw of the whiskey bottle. There is simply no energy left to think about letting a man in her life. Leah's resistance doesn't stop Detective Pete Kemper from trying. The life of every party, Kemp has charmed confessions out of more offenders than they can count. While investigating child abuse cases, Leah and Kemp aren't afraid to blow off some steam together behind closed doors. But when Kemp wants more, Leah is afraid of breaking her rule that she must remain alone and unattached at all costs. When two children are horrifically abused in what look like unrelated cases, Kemp and Leah are forced to work together to find justice. Explosive revelations follow that push Leah closer to the booze she has avoided for years and further away from friends, family, and especially Kemp. With everything else in her life falling apart, Leah turns back to what matters most: finding justice and some semblance of peace for those who were hurt. The further she investigates, the more her own life is at risk—and the more she learns that her life is full of people who won't let her take those risks alone.

Content

America's only authentic operational Dutch windmill, De Zwaan serves as Holland, Michigan's iconic connection to the community's roots. For more than a half-century, "The Swan" (the translation of De Zwaan) has drawn visitors from all over the world.

Alisa Crawford, De Zwaan's miller shares a fascinating look at the story of this historic structure as well as other American- and Dutch-built windmills. Through years of research and interviews with people connected to De Zwaan, she reveals the true origins of its construction, the damage it sustained in World War II, its journey to America, its resurrection as a working mill, its rise as a premier Midwestern attraction.

Delivering the only complete story of this working mill and an extraordinary collection of images spanning its life in the Netherlands and America, this book is a collector edition to commemorate De Zwaan's career and the City of Holland's commitment to this significant monument of living history.

Author Bio

The only dutch certified miller in the Americas, Alisa Crawford serves as DeZwaan's miller for the City of Holland. She holds a master's degree in history museum studies and is a member of the Ambachtelijk Korenmolenaars Gilde, the professional grain millers guild of The Netherlands. She often lectures on the history of DeZwaan, as well as traditional food preparation.

Content

This beautifully bound, 300-page image rich commemorative book explores the 1962 Seattle World's Fair and its legacy. Written by local experts Paula Becker and Alan J. Stein of HistoryLink.org and commissioned for the 50th Anniversary of the Fair.

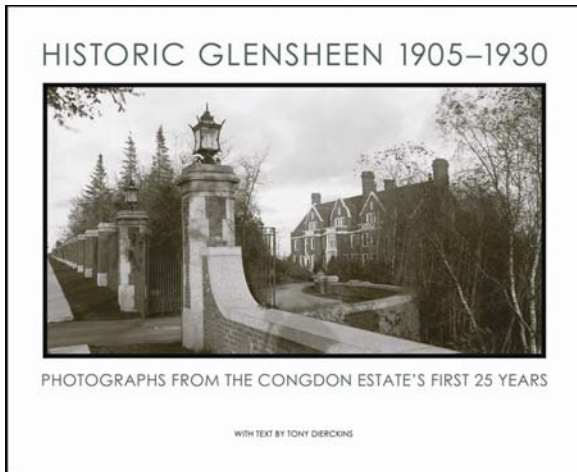

Author Bio

Paula Becker is a staff historian for HistoryLink.org, where her essays document the dance marathon craze of the 1920s and 1930s, war-effort knitting on the home front during World Wars I and II, and the career of The Egg and I author Betty MacDonald. She co-wrote (with Alan Stein) the book Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition: Washington's First World's Fair.

Alan J Stein is a HistoryLink.org staff historian, and is the award-winning author of four previous HistoryLink books, Safe Passage: the Birth of Washington State Ferries; Bellevue Timeline: the Story of Washington's Leading Edge City from Homesteads to High Rises; The Olympic: the Story of Seattle's Landmark Hotel; and (with Paula Becker) Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition: Washington's First World's Fair. HistoryLink.org, a free online encyclopedia of Washington state history, was the nation's first community history encyclopedia designed expressly for the Internet.

Paperback | $19.95

240 pages | 8.5 x 11

Publication Date: May 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

The long-awaited second book in the Minnesota's Lost Towns series is now available. Travel along as we visit and learn about more than 125 central Minnesota locations. The book covers twenty-seven of Minnesota's central corridor counties, from east to west. Read how the towns were created, how they developed and lived, and why they died. Discover the people and places of Minnesota's past. Filled with tales and photos, the book is a fun and educational read for anyone who loves history or a good story.

Author Bio

After several years of working in the public and private sector, doing everything from assembling Tonka Toy trucks (when they were made in America), working in a LP record distribution warehouse, serving in a variety of public governmental roles, managing a construction office, to becoming a social studies teacher at the age of forty-two, Rhonda is recently retired. Her passion for history, especially local and regional history, has resulted in the Minnesota's Lost Towns series which chronicles Minnesota used-to-be towns and communities. As she and her family (including the dog) travel the state, north, east, south and west, she is now working on the next books in the series. She is also presently working on a book detailing other regional points of interest. Quarry Quest: The History of Stearns County Quarry Park and Nature Preserve

Mark K. Sakry

9780878397532

Paperback | $19.95

112 pages | 10 x 7

Publication Date: March 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Quarry Quest is a look at the history of Stearns County Quarry Park and Nature Preserve from the perspective of one of the Stearns County commissioners that made the park possible. The book is filled with photos of the park, historic documents and articles from the St. Cloud Times. The book is intended to be a “coffee table” publication which one can enjoy simply looking at the many photos, but will contain enough historic narrative to attract the more serious reader. The newspaper articles included in the book will be large enough to read and will add a great deal to the publication.

Author Bio

Mark Sakry has served as Executive Director of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Central Minnesota and KIDSTOP Program since 1993. Mark and his wife Diane have two children and two grandchildren. In addition to his work at the Club, Mark served in an elected capacity as a Stearns County Commissioner for twenty-two years, from 1989 to 2010, and prior to that as a District 742 School Board Member for three years. During his time as a County Commissioner, Sakry took a leading role in establishing Stearns County Quarry Park and Nature Preserve. He is known in Central Minnesota for community networking, collaborative programs and has served on many local boards and committees.

The Royal Fjord: Memories of Jervis Inlet

Ray Phillips

9781550177084

Paperback | $22.95

224 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

The most accessible and popular of British Columbia's great scenic fjords, Jervis Inlet punches 60 kilometres into the Coast Mountains a day's cruising north of Vancouver. It deserves to be called the "Royal Fjord" on two counts: the long zigzagging watercourse is comprised of four segments all with "royal" names—Prince of Wales Reach, Princess Royal Reach, Queen's Reach and Princess Louisa Inlet; and second, the inlet possesses a scenic majesty that has made it one of the prime boating destinations on the Inside Passage. Author Earle Stanley Gardner was so moved by the beauty of Jervis Inlet that he penned "There is no scenery in the world that can beat it. Not that I've seen the rest of the world. I don't need to."

Almost deserted now except for Young Life's Malibu Club youth summer camp, Jervis Inlet was once the home of large Sechelt Nation villages and later, of innumerable homesteads, logging camps and fishing communities, and even the occasional hangout of golden-age Hollywood stars. That colourful past comes to life again in this new book by Ray Phillips, who grew up in the area and descended from local pioneers.

Featuring original photos and the rough-hewn memories of some of those early inhabitants, along with personal accounts by the author and his father, The Royal Fjord makes fascinating reading and fills an important gap in the written history of the BC coast.

Author Bio

Ray Phillips is a former logger, school boat operator and fisherman. His mother was a member of the Klein family--the namesake of the community of Kleindale on the Sunshine Coast and the subject of his first book, The Little Green Valley: The Kleindale Story (Harbour Publishing, 2011), which received the BC Genealogical Society Family Book History Award for 2012. He lives in Pender Harbour, BC, with his wife Doris.

Paint the Town Black

Arthur Black

9781550177015

Paperback | $22.95

240 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Arthur Black's best lines are like a shot of whisky—sharp, invigorating and with a good kick. Following the success of his many previous titles, the multiple-award-winning humorist once again delivers “black-to-black” laughs with his latest collection, Paint the Town Black.

With his usual off-kilter perspective, Black tackles many of the pressing topics of the day, including some positive PR for the swastika, the sometimes fatal effects of poor penmanship and the burning question of whether one-time Thunder Bay mayor Walter “Jolly Wally” Assef really did pat the queen's bum. The answer: “Somebody must have tipped Prince Philip off about the mayor's meandering mitts because Phil watched Wally like a hawk. Wally's hands never got near the royal end zone.”

Many edifying historical facts are cunningly hidden among the laughs. For instance, how many Canadians remember Gerda Munsinger, the probable Soviet spy who got deported for sleeping her way through half of Diefenbaker's cabinet? And then there's Senator Incitatus, whose office was made of marble and who literally ate gold for lunch. Don't worry, this isn't one of Harper's recent appointees—Incitatus was a racehorse appointed to the Roman senate by his owner, Emperor Caligula. So settle into your favourite chair, pour yourself a shot of something strong and get ready to Paint the Town Black.

Author Bio

Arthur Black is one of Canada's best-known humorists, and one of only two living writers to have won the Stephen Leacock Memorial Medal for Humour three times. A former host of the CBC radio program, Basic Black, and the author of a syndicated newspaper column, Black is now permanently transplanted to Salt Spring Island, BC.

Santina Pietra is seventeen and in medieval San Gimignano, daughters of merchants are expected to marry. But Santina cares only for Calandrino, a brilliant young scholar who is preoccupied with his ancient alchemical texts. Soon Santina meets Trotula, the village midwife, who might or might not be a "strega," a witch. Trotula challenges her to forget Calandrino and become the woman she is meant to be. Some say she is a victim of the midwife's spell, but Santina is determined to follow in Trotula's footsteps even as calamities strike. The setting is 14th century Italy, yet in Santina contemporary readers will discover a strong-minded young woman whose search for meaning echoes their own.

Author Bio

Mary A. Osborne is the award-winning author of Alchemy's Daughter and Nonna's Book of Mysteries. An honors graduate of Rush University and Knox College, where she was mentored in the Creative Writing Program, Ms. Osborne has degrees in chemistry and nursing. Her freelance work has appeared in publications such as Hektoen International, NewCity, and Examiner.com. Ms. Osborne's novels were inspired by a trip to Florence, Italy, where she envisioned her young heroines slipping through the narrow, cobbled streets and ancient piazzas. Blending history, alchemy, adventure and romance, the author spins enchanting tales that appeal to adults as well as teens. Her first book, Nonna's Book of Mysteries, was a ForeWord Reviews 2010 Book of the Year winner and American Library Association Bloomer nominee. Her second book, Alchemy's Daughter, was awarded gold in the Literary Classics Youth Media Competition. Learn more about the author at www.MaryAOsborne.com. Content

Little Tommy is not so little any more. He has outgrown his shoes, clothes and bicycle all in one summer! L.T. (as he is now called) longs for a brand new bike, but when his father builds him one from recycled junkyard parts, L.T. is embarrassed to ride it to school. Can he come up with a creative idea that not only gives him a good-as-new bike, but also provides a new fence for his yard... and helps save the planet in the process? This delightful first book in Tom Noll's "Trash to Treasure" series, based on events from the author's own childhood, will inspire young readers to reinvent, re purpose, recreate, reuse and recycle in ways that are both practical and fun.

Author Bio

Tom is an artist, landscape designer, avid nature lover, recycler and advocate for going green; is a first time writer who lives in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. Tom is originally from Somerset, Ohio. For the 15 years he lived in Manassas, Virginia, he was known for his imaginative white bicycle fence at his home, where he decorated them for major holidays.

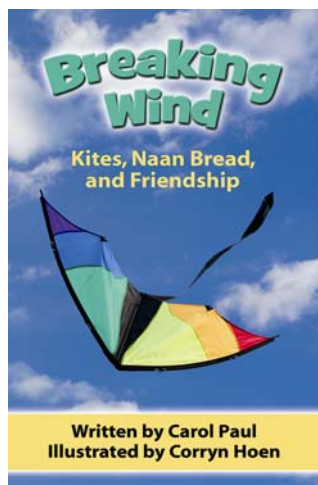

Brandon has always loved illustration and spent countless hours of his childhood getting lost in his drawings. He is now fortunate to make a living continuing to do what he loves from his home in California. Brandon's illustration and design work has appeared in a number of publications and has won awards. When he's not illustrating, he enjoys spending time with his wife and children in the beautiful outdoors.

Grace is a shy, lonely fourth-grader. She watches the other girls from a distance and secretly wishes she were a part of their lives. Struggling with never knowing what to say or do when she is around the other neighborhood girls, Grace feels the sting of loneliness with each attempt she makes. Tillie has moved into her third foster home in nine months. Life has been hard, but Tillie refuses to let her circumstances bring her down. She sees meeting new friends wherever she goes as an adventure and challenge. When Grace and Tillie meet in a most haphazard way, they soon become friends and change each other's lives forever. One offers friendship, fun and adventures while the other demonstrates unconditional love and what it means to give unselfishly from the heart.

Content

Through exquisite photography and a captivating story, join a loon family as they raise their loon chick through its first summer.

Author Bio

Gene Klco (pronounced Kelso) is a retired GM design manager. He has been taking photos since his college days in the late '60s. His excitement for loon photography began on July 4, 2007, when he was able to let the wind float his kayak into three loons on the lake. He took some interesting pictures as he didn't spook them with a lot of motion. That experience hooked him on loon photography, with most of his photos taken from a kayak. Many "looning" trips to lakes in northern Michigan and thousands of photos later, Gene decided to make a book from his photos -- the story of a loon chick growing up during the summer. Since the small lake their cottage is on doesn't have an island for loons to nest on, he made an Artificial Nesting Island (ANI) for them. It took four years before a pair of loons used it in 2013. This is the story of that loon family.

9781550176933

Hardcover | $19.95

40 pages | 12 x 8.25

Publication Date: April 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Orca Chief is the third in a series of Northwest Coast legends by Roy Henry Vickers and Robert Budd. Their previous collaborations, Raven Brings the Light (2013) and Cloudwalker (2014), are award-winning national bestsellers. Thousands of years ago in the village of Kitkatla, four hunters leave home in the spring to harvest seaweed and sockeye. When they arrive at their fishing grounds, exhaustion makes them lazy and they throw their anchor overboard without care for the damage it might do to marine life or the sea floor.

When Orca Chief discovers what the hunters have done, he sends his most powerful orca warriors to bring the men and their boat to his house. The men beg forgiveness for their ignorance and lack of respect, and Orca Chief compassionately sends them out with his pod to show them how to sustainably harvest the ocean's resources. Accompanied by almost exclusively new illustrations by Roy Henry Vickers, this next installment of the Northwest Coast Legends will captivate readers young and old with its vivid imagery and remarkable storytelling.

Author Bio

Roy Henry Vickers is a renowned carver, painter and printmaker whose Eagle Aerie Gallery in Tofino, BC, has become a provincial landmark. In 1998, Roy was appointed to the Order of British Columbia and in 2006, the Order of Canada. He is the co-author of the immensely popular Northwest Coast Legends series and the author of several books that showcase his art, including Storyteller (Harbour Publishing, 2014). He currently lives in Hazelton, BC. Robert (Lucky) Budd holds an MA in history and has digitized many high-profile oral history collections including that of the Nisga'a First Nation. As well as co-authoring the Northwest Coast Legends series, he is the author of Voices of British Columbia (Douglas & McIntyre, 2010), a bestseller that was shortlisted for the 2011 Bill Duthie Booksellers' Choice Award, and its sequel, Echoes of British Columbia (Harbour Publishing, 2014). He currently lives in Victoria, BC.

Glimpses of Wilderness shares the author's insights into the nature and value of wilderness areas. Set in Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness, each of the thirty essays describes an adventure drawn from the author's wealth of experiences in the area, and the glimpse into the character of wilderness that it provides. Though set in Minnesota's canoe country wilderness, the perceptions and insights offered in Glimpses of Wilderness also pertain to all wildernesses across the country.

Author Bio

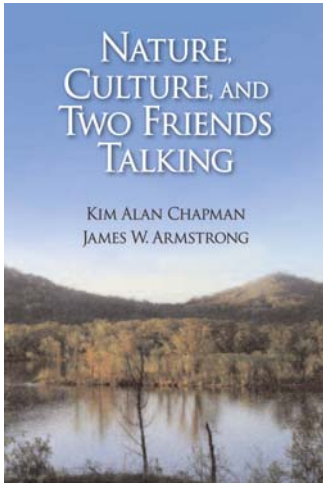

Kevin Proescholdt has worked to protect Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness (BWCAW) and other wild places for nearly forty years. A former wilderness guide in the BWCAW, he has written widely about wilderness and wilderness conservation. He helped pass the 1978 BWCAW Act through Congress, the struggle about which he wrote in the 1995 book, Troubled Waters: The Fight for the Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness. Today he works as the conservation director for Wilderness Watch, a national wilderness conservation organization.

9780878397327

Paperback | $16.95

272 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: May 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

This book is in part the story of a friendship over thirty years centering on love of nature and two men's quests to understand how to save what they love. At turns literary and scholarly, these essays, poems and public presentations also document not only the evolution of their ideas and expressions of this love, but reflect American culture's own dialogue about nature and conservation. In heartfelt prose and vivid language, these two friends give back to us some thirty years of the environmental conservation in America.

Author Bio

Kim Chapman has been working in conservation biology for over thirty years; he is currently a consulting ecologist with Applied Ecological Services. He has worked on hundreds of projects in the Midwest that try to find the balance between conservation and development. He is the co-author and editor of Valley of Grass (North Star Press). James Armstrong has been writing about nature and culture for thirty years. He is the author of two books of poetry, Monument in a Summer Hat (New Issues Press) and Blue Lash (Milkweed Press). He teaches poetry, film, and literature of the environment in the English Department at Winona State University.

Breath of the Onion: Italian-American Anecdotes

Franco Pagnucci

9780878397914

Paperback | $12.95

128 pages | 5.5 x 8.5

Publication Date: March 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Breath of the Onion: Italian-American Anecdotes is a three-part collection of forty-eight prose pieces and a few old, family recipes. A handful of Italian characters, some of whom immigrate to Illinois, are celebrated. The story begins in a twelfth century Tuscan mountain village in the 1940s. Part two covers the narrator's short visit to Italy after forty years and the changes he finds, even in that ancient and isolated mountain village. Part three is about life in the suburbs west of Chicago and about the pressures the new world imposes on an ethnic culture. Language, customs, and values are affected and modified, often with humor and a new understanding.

Author Bio

Franco Pagnucci, Emeritus Professor of English at UW-P, has published storytelling books for teachers and students and four volumes of poetry: a chapbook Imprints of Your Tires on Damp Sand (2012); Ancient Move (1998); I Never Had a Pet (1992); Out Harmsen's Way (1991); as well as two poetry anthologies: New Roads Old Towns (1988) and Face the Poem (1979). His essays have appeared in such publications as The Christian Science Monitor and Commonweal. Poems of his have been published in many periodicals and anthologies, including: News of the Universe, American Voices, and the Best American Poetry, 1999. He and Susan Pagnucci, a paper artist, live in the lake country of northern Wisconsin, where they work on handmade poetry books.

Content

Hastings-Sunrise is a love letter to a fleeting place and time. Bren Simmers's second collection captures her old East Vancouver neighbourhood in the midst of upheaval. As it is colonized by tides of matching plaid and diners serving pulled-pork pancakes, condo developments replace the small businesses and cheap rentals that once gave the area its charm.

Much like opening a set of nesting dolls, leafing through the collection exposes further layers of depth and intimacy. Within the context of cultural change, Simmers explores the meaning to be found in everyday things: the making of a home, the life built from daily routines. At the same time, she reveals the dissonance that can occur between personal and large-scale change: "Twitter feed of melting sea ice, / colony collapse / while we picnic under pink ribbons, / kiss again like we mean it."

Throughout the collection, the poet's eye unfailingly lights on the perfect details to evoke a scene: "On Mr. Donair's spit, / the earth rotates. Papal smoke emits / from Polonia Sausage, semis shunt / downtown." Visual poems forming maps of Christmas lights and autumn colours further bring the Hastings-Sunrise neighbourhood to life, illustrating the interweaving of human and natural spaces and locating "home" in between.

Like a tree clothed in multicoloured yarn or a miniature house filled with free books, Hastings-Sunrise is a gift to readers, beautiful in its simplicity.

Author Bio

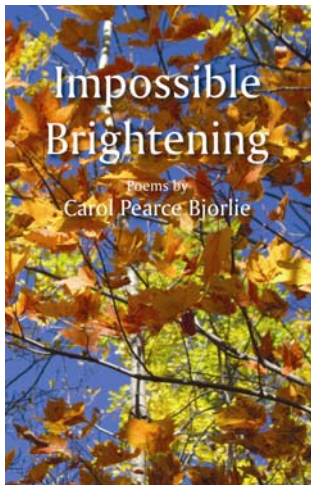

Bren Simmers is the author of one previous book of poetry, Night Gears (Wolsak and Wynn, 2010). She is the winner of an Arc Poetry Magazine Poem of the Year Award, was a finalist for The Malahat Review's Long Poem Prize and has been twice longlisted for the CBC Poetry Prize. Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Norval Morrisseau's revered work has been honoured, copied and recognized throughout the art world and beyond. Less widely known but equally captivating is the artist's personal life story, which poet and biographer Armand Garnet Ruffo related in his powerful narrative biography, Norval Morrisseau: Man Changing into Thunderbird (Douglas & McIntyre, 2014). Ruffo immersed himself in the life and work of the artist, gaining insight into the struggles and sources of inspiration underlying Morrisseau's greatest works through research and interviews with the artist himself—a connection further strengthened by their shared Ojibway heritage.

His lengthy study of Morrisseau inspired Ruffo to write poems reflecting on both the works of art and the emotional context in which Morrisseau painted them. Thunderbird Poems complements the highly evocative and poetic biography, delving into Morrisseau's creative life through compressed, imagistic language, while untangling the complex and powerful threads of meaning, tradition and emotional power that resonate throughout Morrisseau's strong lines and vibrant colours.

Significant themes in Morrisseau's work are mirrored in Thunderbird Poems: Ojibway legends, Morrisseau's conflicted religious beliefs, political tensions between white and aboriginal Canadians. Significant moments in Morrisseau's life are also traced along with the development of his artistic career. Deeply immersed in Morrisseau's life story, and possessing thorough knowledge of the Ojibway storytelling traditions which grounded so much of the artist's beliefs and creativity, Ruffo provides fresh poetic interpretations of the most renowned and striking works of one of Canada's most celebrated painters.

Author Bio

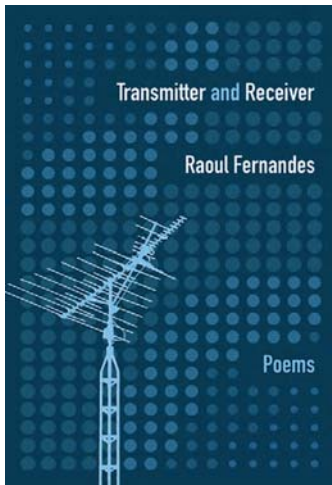

Armand Garnet Ruffo is the author of the biography Norval Morrisseau: Man Changing into Thunderbird (Douglas & McIntyre, 2014) and three books of poetry: Opening In The Sky (Theytus Books, 1994), Grey Owl: The Mystery of Archie Belaney (Coteau Books, 1997) and At Geronimo's Grave (Coteau Books, 2001). In addition to writing an awardwinning film, A Windigo Tale (2010), he has also edited and co-edited (Ad)Dressing Our Words: Aboriginal Perspectives on Aboriginal Literatures (Theytus Books, 2001) and An Anthology of Canadian Native Literature in English (Oxford University Press, 2013). He is an associate professor in the Department of English Language and Literature at Queen's University and lives in Kingston, Ontario.

Debut talent Raoul Fernandes's first offering is Transmitter and Receiver, a masterful and carefully depicted exploration of one's relationships with oneself, friends, memories, strangers and technology.

The four parts of this collection are variations building on a theme—at times lonely, sometimes adoring, but always honest. Wider areas of contemplation—the difficulty of communication, the ever-changing symbolism of language and the nature of human interaction in the age of machines—are explored through colloquial scenes of the everyday: someone eats a burger in a car parked by the river ("Grand Theft Auto: Dead Pixels"), a song plays on the radio as a man contemplates suicide ("Car Game"), and a janitor works silently once everyone else has gone ("After Hours at the Centre For Dialogue").

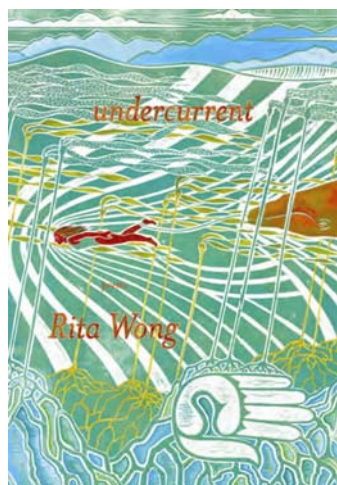

Forthright and effortlessly lyrical, Fernandes builds each poem out of candor and insight, an addictive mix that reads like a favourite story and glitters with concealed meaning. Rather than drawing lines between isolation and connection, past and present, metaphor and reality, Transmitter and Receiver offers loneliness and longing hand-in-hand with affection and understanding: "The last assembly instruction is always you reading this. A machine / that rarely functions, but could never without you."

Author Bio

Raoul Fernandes has been writing poetry since childhood, and is involved in both online and offline writing communities. He completed the Writer's Studio at Simon Fraser University in 2009. He was a finalist for the 2010 Bronwen Wallace Award for Emerging Writers, and winner of the 2010 Sakura Award at the Vancouver International Cherry Blossom Festival. His poem "After Lydia" was recently adapted into a short film. He lives and writes in Vancouver, BC.

The water belongs to itself. undercurrent reflects on the power and sacredness of water—largely underappreciated by the human race—whether it be in the form of ocean currents, the headwaters of the Fraser River or fluids in the womb. Exploring a variety of poetic forms, anecdote, allusion and visual elements, this collection reminds humanity that we are water bodies, and we need and deserve better ways of honouring this.

Poet Rita Wong approaches water through personal, cultural and political lenses. She humbles herself to water both physically and spiritually: “i will apprentice myself to creeks & tributaries, groundwater & glaciers / listen for the salty pulse within, the blood that recognizes marine ancestry.” She witnesses the contamination of First Nations homelands and sites, such as Gregoire Lake near Fort McMurray, AB: “though you look placid, peaceful dibenzothiophenes / you hold bitter, bitumized depths.” Wong points out that though capitalism and industry are supposed to improve our quality of life, they’re destroying the very things that give us life in the first place. Listening to and learning from water is key to a future of peace and creative potential.

undercurrent emerges from the Downstream project, a multifaceted, creative collaboration that highlights the importance of art in understanding and addressing the cultural and political issues related to water. The project encourages public imagination to respect and value water, ecology and sustainability. Visit downstream.ecuad.ca.

Untranslatable is a book-length collection of poems that all start from an untranslatable word—a word found in other languages that we do not have in English. The poems written from the words capture how this word is or can be lived, defined from a natural and imaginative world perspective. “Lovers of language take delight in those wonderful words which refuse to succumb to literal translation. Untranslatable captures the imaginative essence of these words and our underlying sense that, after all, nothing slips our understanding.” –Marcia Peck, writer and cellist in the Minnesota Orchestra

Author Bio

Julia Klatt Singer writes short stories and poems, works as a visiting writer to the school through COMPAS, and is the poet in residence at Grace Neighborhood Nursery School. Her stories and poems have appeared in over four dozen journals and magazines, including the St. Paul Almanac, The Opposite of Cold, and Poetry East. She is the author of A Tangled Path to Heaven, North Star Press, 2013, a co-author of Twelve Branches: Stories from St. Paul, Coffee House Press, 2003, and has a chapbook, In the Dreamed of Places, available through Naissance Press, 2011. She has co-written five songs with composer Tim Tekach, four of which were commissioned by the American Composers Forum. Ms. Singer lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Visibility: Ten Miles is a collaboration of poetry and photography between Sharon Chmielarz, poet, and Ken Smith, photographer. Both are well acquainted with the prairie; hence these photos and poems include not only grasslands but also the unusual only insiders have seen. These images come from two angles, what the eye sees and what the heart responds to. The title suggests the ability on the prairie to see in distances of miles, not of city blocks or minutes. Here it can suggest something more lies ahead which is unseen. And that is what this book brings to the reader—what might be unseen or unremembered or not yet imagined to the eye.

Author Bio

Sharon Chmielarz has had seven books of poetry published including Love from the Yellowstone Trail and Calling, a finalist for the Indie Book Awards, 2011. She's had poems published in magazines like Notre Dame Review, The Iowa Review, Salmagundi, North American Review, Prairie Schooner, and The Hudson Review. Her latest award is Water~Stone Review's 2012 Jane Kenyon Prize.

Advance praise for Watch Where You Walk:

“Watch Where You Walk is not only Mary Kratt’s most important book of poems, but it is a book of signal interest to all of us who read and write poetry. It is the story of a family’s journey from the hills of West Virginia to the Tidewater and finally to the Piedmont of North Carolina. When we finish this book, we know ourselves and our world better. It is a beautifully crafted new book, where the new poems and the older poems interact and play against each other to create a world that did not exist before, complete in itself.”

—Tony Abbott, author of Angel Dialogues and The Girl in the Yellow Raincoat

Author Bio

Mary Kratt, a native of West Virginia, has lived most of her life in Charlotte, North Carolina. Her poems have appeared in numerous literary magazines and anthologies. She is a winner of the Brockman-Campbell Poetry Book Award, Oscar Arnold Young Poetry Book Award, Peace History Book Prize, St. Andrews Writer in Community Award, and the Irene Blair Honeycutt Legacy Award. Her nonfiction books feature the Piedmont region of the Carolinas. She taught English and American Studies at UNC-Charlotte and currently lives in Charlotte with her husband Jim.

A Better Place on Earth: Among the Haves and Have Nots in Super Unequal British Columbia

Andrew MacLeod

9781550177046

Paperback | $22.95

256 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: April 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

In British Columbia, like most of the world, the wealth of the richest one percent has grown exponentially in recent decades, while the majority have found their incomes stagnant or even declining. The top 10 percent in BC now hold 56.2 percent of the wealth, a greater share than anywhere else in Canada. Our richest have wealth counted in the billions while the poorest sleep in downtown doorways, or have to choose between medicine and food. Those in the middle report working harder without getting ahead and many British Columbians owe more than they own.

To illustrate the wide-ranging ramifications of inequality, MacLeod interviews economists, politicians, policy-makers and activists, as well as those living on the edge: a single parent whose child support payments are clawed back by the government; a 25-year-old struggling to live on disability payments who won't share his identity for fear of repercussions from the system; a security guard who wasn't given bathroom breaks, didn't drink water at work and eventually had to have a kidney removed as a result of severe dehydration.

Some assume that such disparity is inevitable even in BC, a wealthy province lauded by the government as "The Best Place on Earth." However, MacLeod deftly argues that British Columbians are living with the consequences of short-sighted public policies, and adjusting those policies can achieve a different set of results.

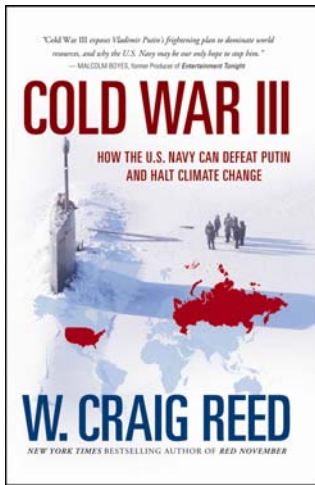

Informative, well-researched, cautionary and hopeful, A Better Place on Earth provides an in-depth look at inequality and suggests what British Columbians can do to make sure everyone's basic needs are met, pull back stratospheric incomes and create a fairer society.

Author Bio

Andrew MacLeod is the Legislative Bureau Chief for TheTyee.ca website. His work has been referred to in the BC legislature, Canadian House of Commons and senate. He won a 2006 Association of Alternative Newsweeklies award for news writing and was a finalist for a 2007 Western Magazine Award for best article in BC and the Yukon. His reporting has appeared in Monday Magazine, the Georgia Straight, BC Business, 24 Hours, the San Francisco Bay Guardian, Detroit's MetroTimes, Portland's Willamette Week and elsewhere. Cold War III: How the US Navy can Defeat Putin and Halt Climate Change

W. Craig Reed

9780990893011

Paperback | $14.99

230 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: March 2015

RCG Publishing

Content

Human population is skyrocketing, natural resources are dwindling, Russian aggressions are escalating, and Arctic climate changes are forging a new Cold War battleground that's about to turn hot. These alarming world events have converged to create a "perfect storm" that's thrusting the world toward unprecedented economic chaos and global conflict.

In Cold War III, W. Craig Reed exposes Russian President Vladimir Putin's plan to dominate world resources, especially in the Arctic, and why the invasion of Ukraine is only the beginning. Reed also reveals details about a scientific breakthrough by the U.S. Navy that could defeat Putin, create jobs, and mitigate climate change. But unless world leaders act now, Putin's plan could plunge the free world into a nightmare scenario of poverty, despair, and chaos not seen since the Great Depression.

Reed's previous non-fiction book, Red November, exposed shocking details about a top secret U.S. Navy technology, deployed worldwide by Reed's father, that allowed President John F. Kennedy to avoid World War III and trump Soviet President Nikita Khrushchev during the Cuban Missile Crisis. Reed's frightening revelations in Cold War III remind us that the world's superpowers are still bitter enemies, and the third Cold War is heating up rapidly deep beneath the Arctic ice.

Why Not Books

Content

The American people are disgusted with the U.S. Congress. In 2014, public approval of the "first branch" of government reached a forty-year low, its popularity ranking well below Nixon during the Watergate years and BP during the oil spill. Congress is producing legislation at a historically anemic rate, while many of the nation's most immediate problems fester. Those are the facts. The fiction? The notion that we can't do anything about it. Two-and-a-quarter centuries ago, the U.S. Constitution assigned various powers and obligations to our legislative branch a written warranty calling on our elected representatives to "promote the general welfare." But failures in recent years reveal a profound truth: Congress is in breach of contract. More than ineffective, the legislative process has become defective. And to a great degree, it is the congressional system that is driving the problem, not just the people and parties who are stymied by it. It is time to stop labeling them all "fools." Instead, we the people must push to reform the rules. In Unlock Congress, veteran journalist and former political strategist Michael Golden examines the ways in which congressional failure generates a harmful PRODUCT. Rather than narrowly affixing blame to individual politicians or even to the partisan divide, Golden methodically diagnoses underlying causes behind the breakdown. He identifies the PROBLEM obsolete rules that lead to major defects within the system. Finally, Unlock Congress lays out a PLATFORM of solutions designed to reinvigorate both the process and its players.

Content

This book is about hope. At a time when so much national and worldwide violence seems rooted in all kinds of religious insensibilities, this book reminds us that our great western spiritual traditions have much more in common than they do in conflict. The author persuasively suggests that, at a deep spiritual level, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, and Native American traditions all bear witness to a common human longing for love, compassion and justice, rooted in a mysterious yet benevolent God, Yahweh, Allah, and Great Mystery.

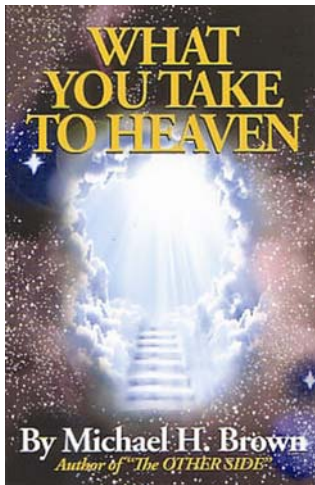

Author Bio

Chet Meyers taught university students for over thirty years in a variety of disciplines: human services, education, natural science, philosophy, and spirituality. His writing ranges from freshwater fishing strategies to college teaching strategies and existential grappling with life's meaning. While addressing complex issues and concepts, Chet's writing has been described by his students as clear, personal, and always accessible. He credits his wife, Mother Nature, and Johann Sebastian Bach as three primary sources that sustain his sanity.

Content

Author of The Other Side, Brown delves deeply into the concept of the "life review"; how our lives are evaluated upon passing by the Lord and His angels, the way in which our time on earth is evaluated (judged), and the importance of fulfilling and discerning our individual missions. This fascinating, powerful book will leave no doubt about the unfathomable kindness and understanding of God; His Mercy; and the beyond-phenomenal splendor of the destination we know as Heaven. Culled from Church teaching, near-death experiences, saints, and other sources, including modern revelations.

Author Bio

Michael Harold Brown obtained a degree in communications, specializing in print journalism, from Fordham University. In 1977 he rejoined The Niagara Gazette as a full-time reporter, covering outlying cities and towns and focusing on toxic-waste dumps in the towns of Lewiston and Porter. He then became the city hall reporter for Niagara Falls and a columnist. It was during this time that his focus turned to a toxic dump in the city itself, which soon became famous as "Love Canal." Michael's reporting was nominated for three categories of the Pulitzer Prize and drew a special award from the Environmental Protection Agency. Michael then wrote a book for Pantheon entitled Laying Waste: The Poisoning of America by Toxic Chemicals, which was adapted for articles in The New York Times Magazine, the Atlantic Monthly, New York Magazine, Rolling Stone, Family Weekly, and other magazines and major newspapers. The book drew many dozens of reviews and Michael appeared on hundreds of radio and TV shows, including Today, Nightline, and McNeil-Lehrer. He also wrote a book about air contamination called The Toxic Cloud. In the early 1980s, while writing a book about the Mafia, he experienced a dramatic return to his Catholic faith. His other books include Witness (with Josyp Terelya), The Final Hour, The Trumpet of Gabriel, The Day Will Come, The Last Secret, Secrets of the Eucharist, After Life, Seven Days With Mary, The Bridge to Heaven, Sent To Earth, The God of Miracles, Tower of Light, The Other Side, The Seven, and a book about deceased and angels and demons, The Spirits Around Us.

Your college years can be filled with promise and excitement—or filled with frustration and missed opportunities—depending on your choices. From choosing a major (there's a whole section on this) to knowing when to ditch your roommate (#189), think of this book as a friendly guide to making your college years count. Some of these insights are serious (#28), some of them are funny (#215), and some are just plain random (#346). All of them are meant to show you up front what you'll wish you had known in hindsight. College is fun when you set yourself up for success. I wrote this book to help you do just that.

Cape Scott and the North Coast Trail: Hiking Vancouver Island's Wildest Coast

Maria Bremner

9781550176919

Paperback | $26.95

256 pages | 5.5 x 8.5

Publication Date: March 2015

Harbour Publishing Co. Ltd.

Content

Part trail map, part field guide, part regional history, Cape Scott and the North Coast Trail is the first comprehensive guidebook about one of Vancouver Island's most iconic destinations. Each year, thousands of backpackers and nature lovers head to the northern limits of Vancouver Island, bound for the jewel of the region: Cape Scott Provincial Park and the recently completed North Coast Trail.

Cape Scott, 115 kilometres of wave- and weather-beaten coastline, encompasses every dramatic element of Pacific Northwest geography. Rocky headlands neighbour sandy beaches and protected coves; bogs house sensitive amphibians and plants; and inland, a dense network of towering conifers, ferns, salal and beds of moss define the rainforest. The North Coast Trail wends its way through this paradise, offering hikers a rugged trek to Cape Sutil, a place steeped in First Nations history, beautiful ocean views along the long sandy beach at Shuttleworth Bight and glimpses of one of the largest intact coastal wetlands in British Columbia, an upland bog housing sandhill cranes and a variety of endemic species.

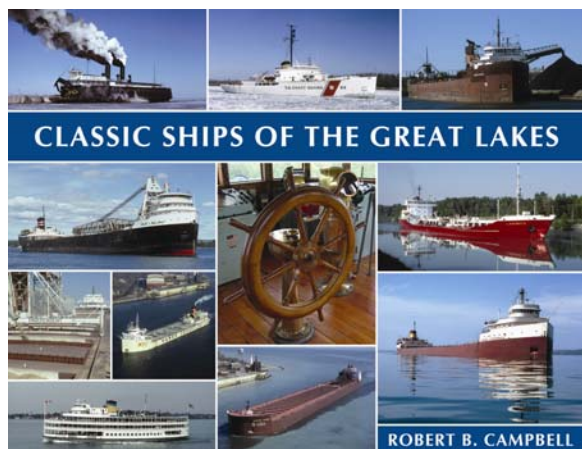

Cape Scott and the North Coast Trail equips visitors with everything they need to know to make the most of the park. Illustrated with accurate maps and vivid photographs, and loaded with details about biology and human history, the guide is perfect for the day tripper, serious backpacker or anyone wanting to learn more about the culture and wildlife of the region.

Author Bio

Maria Bremner has been an avid hiker, nature enthusiast and writer all her life. She studied English and Environmental Studies at the University of Victoria, and has extensive experience hiking the trails of Vancouver Island. Cape Scott has held a special place in her heart since her first visit in 1998. She lives in Victoria, BC.

Content

Robert Campbell's Classic Ships of the Great Lakes presents a visually stunning array of historical and present-day inland shipping including passenger ships, whaleback, bulk carriers, self-unloaders, cement carriers, oil tankers, car ferries, super ships, and more.

Author Bio

Bob Campbell became interested in the ships of the Great Lakes at a very young age. In the early 1950s, vacation trips to visit relatives at Sault Ste. Marie exposed Bob to the long ships passing through the locks. Bob's Uncle Jerry Campbell worked in the recording room at the locks and would always talk about the boats. The rides across the Straits of Mackinac on the old coal-fired steam-driven ferries before the bridge opened also had a lasting effect upon him. As a teenager, Bob would always pick up the Know Your Ships book put out by Tom Manse. Tom helped mold Bob from a boat watcher to a boat photographer. Bob's photographs have appeared in Michigan History Magazine as well as others around the Great Lakes region. Bob has also put together multi-media programs with video as well as still pictures depicting the Great Lakes ships to various marine organizations around the lakes.

Meandering: The Notes of a Mississippi Riverlorian

Mike Link

9780878398065

Paperback | $16.95

288 pages | 6 x 9

Publication Date: September 2015

North Star Press Of St Cloud

Content

Meandering is a combination of journeys Mike has taken in the car, on a variety of boats, on a bike and on foot to discover the variations and stories of the Mississippi. As the backbone of the continent, draining thirty-one states and two provinces between the Rockies and the Appalachians, the Mississippi collects both the waters and the stories of North America. Now as a paddlewheel Riverlorian, Mike travels the river sharing these stories, and this book collects both the adventures and the stories so the reader can understand both the Great River and the diversity it represents.

Author Bio

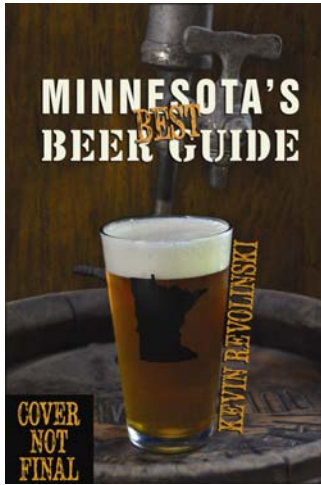

Mike Link retired as the founding director of the Audubon Center of the North Woods, has authored twenty-eight books, and continues to be a trip guide for Off the Beaten Path and Road Scholar trips, a riverlorian on Paddlewheel trips, and a graduate instructor for Hamline University. Mike and his wife Kate Crowley became the only couple to walk around Lake Superior in 2010 and continue to give keynote talks about this and other adventures. With five grandchildren and family and friends, Mike and Kate enjoy sharing their love of nature and their concerns about freshwater.
